

Impactful Classroom Routines

Remove distractions and set expectations by implementing these daily routines—get students grooving to the rhythm of your classroom in no time!

1 Entering the Classroom: The Grand Entrance!

- Greetings: Stand at the door and greet each student like they're a VIP at a rock concert. High fives, fist bumps, jazz hands—whatever gets the energy flowing!
- Bell Ringer Work: Have a short activity or assignment ready for students to dive into as soon as they're settled.
- Music/Ambient Noise: Play some chill background music or nature sounds. Imagine your classroom as a zen garden—minus the raked sand and bonsai trees.

2 Starting Class: It's Showtime!

- Review Agenda: Flash the day's agenda on the board like it's the latest blockbuster movie trailer.
- Opening Discussion Question: Kick things off with a question that'll get those brain gears turning.
- Music Stops—Eyes to the Front: When the music stops, all eyes on you. Practice this like it's the finale of a Broadway show.

3 Transitioning Between Classroom Activities: The Great Switcheroo!

- Signal for Attention: Find a signal that's as unique as a unicorn in a tutu—a chime, a clapping rhythm, or even a silent hand raise.
- Clear Instructions: Be as clear as a weather report on a sunny day. No room for "Wait, what are we doing again?"
- Transition Time Limits: Keep the pace snappy with a 2-minute song. When it ends, transition time is over.
- Movement Paths: Create paths that are smoother than a buttered slide. No traffic jams in our learning zone!

4 Ending Class: The Grand Finale! and Extra Stuff

- Closure Activity: Wrap things up with a summary or reflection activity. Think of it as the encore performance.
- Clean-Up Routine: Assign clean-up tasks like they're on a secret spy mission. Stealthy and efficient!
- The Safety Dance: Review and practice emergency procedures like you're rehearsing for a disaster movie. Safety first, people!
- Feedback Time: Reserve time for student feedback on routines. They'll appreciate being part of it and take more ownership of their learning.

5 Behavior During Class: The Main Event!

- Turn-Taking: Teach turn-taking like it's an Olympic sport. No elbowing for the gold medal here!
- Active Listening: Encourage active listening with eye contact and nodding. Imagine you're all in a super intense game of charades.
- Group Work Procedures: Outline roles and responsibilities like a mission briefing. Everyone's got a part to play in this epic quest!
- Questioning Techniques: Use questioning techniques that keep students on their toes. Wait time, cold calling—it's like a pop quiz, but way more fun!

For more free educational resources, visit mcgrawhill.info/FreeResources